Experts predict that Ransomware may cost businesses up to $1 Billion in 2016.

Our customers didn't have to pay a penny.

Does news of the Locky virus or the 49 million other strains of malware have you on edge?

Any one of them might have taken down your system. Can your business afford to be down for hours or days at a time due to a vicious virus or merciless malware?

Anti-virus software and simple backups are not enough to save your files and keep your business running.

You need a solution that can verify backups, deliver instant cloud virtualization, has the ability to see into your files and know when the virus took hold, and perform a restore that takes minutes, not hours or days.
